

SAIRY G. GARCIA-HINOJOS

Sairy García-Hinojos is a community-driven leader transforming the entrepreneurial landscape across Oakland County and beyond. As Manager of the Global Resource Program at Oakland Thrive, she leads strategic initiatives that connect immigrants, refugees, and small business owners to capital, technical assistance, and cross-sector partnerships to build sustainable businesses. With a background in accounting and experience supporting more than 200 businesses, Sairy blends financial expertise with culturally responsive strategy. She has delivered bilingual trainings in collaboration with government agencies, chambers of commerce, and nonprofits, expanding access to resources while strengthening inclusive economic ecosystems.

Her approach combines strategic vision, meaningful relationships, and long-term impact. A passionate advocate for women entrepreneurs, Sairy leads initiatives such as Women Who Thrive, creating spaces for mentorship, leadership, and collaboration. Through her volunteer leadership as President of Red Global at the Mexican Consulate in Detroit and as Program Director with Centro Cultural Hispano, she builds bridges that empower underrepresented founders to grow, lead, and succeed with confidence.

Recognized as an Oakland County 40 Under 40 honoree, Latina Community Leader, and Community Advocate of the Year, Sairy is known for delivering measurable results through strategic partnerships and inclusive economic development. She does more than support entrepreneurs, she helps design ecosystems where they can truly flourish.

Beyond her professional achievements, Sairy brings creativity and authenticity into everything she does, from community storytelling to culinary ventures and her long-standing makeup artistry. She believes business is rooted in purpose, legacy, and lifting others, and her work continues to open doors, amplify voices, and inspire communities to thrive together.
